

Perfect Hoof Club Forum is ONLINE!

Our Professional Forum is back online!

We are pleased to announce that the Perfect Hoof Club Forum is back!

We sincerely apologize for all the down time and appreciate your patience while we worked to re-establish the forum.

Eric Nystrom did a great job getting us back online and will be handling any tech support issues. However, we expect things to run smoothly from here on out.

We encourage everyone to repost any topics that would be of great interest to others or that still had questions to be answered.

For those who were already active, you can enter the new forum with the previous generic ID and password here:

http://www.appliedequinepodiatry.org/perfecthoofclub/password_gateway.html

From there, you will need to recreate your login and profile since this is a new forum.

If you have never registered for the PHC Forum ... please don't miss out!

Where else can everyday horse owners ask questions about whole hoof care and receive knowledgeable and conscientious answers from professionals?

If you are a farrier, DAEP or are interested in courses offered by The Institute of Applied Equine Podiatry, you can get to know fellow equine professionals and share information.

You will also learn about the products developed by founders KC and Robyn La Pierre, including the NEW Silvetrasol - an all-natural hoof antiseptic, and get glimpses of the latest products to improve whole hoof care!

We look forward to having you in the Perfect Hoof Club! Remember, it's FREE!

Welcome back!

Sincerely,
Angela Beck
